PRACTICE EXPERIENCE

United States Air Force JAG Corps, Laughlin Air Force Base, Texas June 2016 – July 2017
Staff Judge Advocate: Principal legal advisor to the wing commander and subordinate commanders and responsible for overseeing the provision of legal services to over 3,000 active duty Air Force members and civilian personnel. Managed a case load of approximately 20 criminal prosecutions per calendar year, a budget of approximately $250,000, and over 100 civilian personnel actions. Directly supervised five attorneys, 6 paralegals, and 3 civilian staff members.

United States Air Force JAG Corps, Aviano Air Force Base, Italy June 2014 – June 2016
Deputy Staff Judge Advocate: Ensured United States Air Force operations complied with applicable laws and international agreements, defended command prerogatives against legal challenges, assisted in supervising legal services for more than 8,000 Air Force personnel and family members, and acted as liaison with United States embassy and Italian host nation officials. Oversaw Rules of Engagement development and dissemination for all military operations conducted out of Aviano Air Base, to include operations into Syria and the evacuation of the American embassy in Libya. Ensured all military operations complied with the Laws of Armed Conflict.

Air Command and Staff College, Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama July 2013 – June 2014
Student: Competitively selected to attend one-year Master's program in military operational art and science. Curriculum included a focus on international relations, war theory, and law of armed conflict.

Office of the Secretary of Defense, Pentagon November 2012 – July 2013
Staff Writer: Led the research, drafting, and conduct of the Defense Legal Policy Board's review of military justice in combat zones. Analyzed the disposition of allegations involving the death, injury, or abuse of civilian non-combatants and suspected violations of the law of armed conflict. Applied international law, domestic law, and United States policies against 11 years of practice in Iraq and Afghanistan, producing a comprehensive draft that was fully aligned with the findings and direction of the Defense Legal Policy Board.

U.S. Air Force JAG Corps, Andrews Air Force Base November 2010 – November 2012
Chief, Relief and Inquiries: Prepared responses to White House, Congressional and other high level inquiries regarding military justice policies, procedures and actions. Prepared legal opinions on applications for relief filed with the Air Force Board for Correction of Military Records; conducted appellate review of certain courts-martial; and wrote legal reviews of court-martial petitions to The Judge Advocate General.

Detainee Review Board, Bagram Air Field, Afghanistan May 2010 – November 2010
Recorder: Served as recorder for over 100 detainee review boards. Worked daily with intelligence analysts and agencies on reviewing and presenting intelligence gathered from a variety of sources. Presented evidence both in aggravation and mitigation for detainees captured in Afghanistan. Interviewed local Afghan witnesses. Questioned detainees, intelligence agents, witnesses, and capturing unit personnel during the detainee review board. Trained all recorders and drafted detainee review board training guide. Handled Top Secret intelligence matters routinely.

United States Air Force JAG Corps, Moody Air Force Base, Georgia July 2008 – May 2010
Chief of Military Justice: Led military justice section responsible for all courts-martial and punitive punishment for a base population of 5,000. Supervised three attorneys and four paralegals. Prosecuted ten courts-martial - offenses including rape, drug possession, drug distribution, child pornography, statutory rape, forcible sodomy, and dereliction of duty. Trial experience included extensive motion practice, direct examinations of expert witnesses such as forensic psychologists and forensic toxicologists, pretrial hearings, opening statements, cross examinations, closing arguments, and sentencing arguments. Provided training, advice, and guidance to Air Force Office of Special Investigations.

United States Air Force JAG Corps, Luke Air Force Base, Arizona January 2006 – July 2008
